Colombian Association of Engineering Schools (ACOFI)

Bogotá, Colombia

On behalf of the Iberoamerican Association of Engineering Education Institutions (ASIBEI), I would be delighted to officially express my full support for the Colombian bid to host the World Engineering Education Forum in 2013.

The Colombian Association of Engineering Schools (ACOFI) is a very well known institution thanks to its contribution to foster the innovation capacities of the engineering schools in their research and education activities. Since more than ten years, ACOFI has successfully organized and developed the national meeting of engineering schools with the support of ASIBEI. For this reason I have no doubt that the World Engineering Education Forum will benefit from the ACOFI's experience and added value.

World Engineering Education Forum has the full support of ASIBEI and we sincerely hope to welcoming the international engineering education community to Cartagena in 2013.

Assuring you again of our highest consideration and cooperation.

Thanking you,

JAIME SALAZAR
Executive Director
